Fee Change Narrative:

Health enforcement issues fall under Delaware County Health Department

Since the start of the Pandemic, the Department has seen a significant rise in change of contractor requests. In many cases this piecemeal approach to application submissions is done intentionally to get projects started sooner and before the actual contractors who would be doing the work are selected. A change in contractor requires staff to re-issue permits and process additional paperwork; spending time that could otherwise be used in other department functions. The increase in the fee is to offset staff's time processing these requests.

Since the start of the Pandemic, the Department has seen repeated failed inspections and calls for inspections when the work is clearly not to the required building codes or ready for an inspection. This is a tremendous waste of Township Staff resources and diverting our inspectors away from other departmental responsibilities. It would appear that on failed inspections, contractors are either trying to cut corners and hope the inspectors don't catch it or are using the inspections as a way of telling them what is needed to complete the work according to code. The purpose of the increase in fees and new fees are to hold contractors accountable for their work.
